Food Services Advisory Group Proposal

The following proposal has been designed to provide a process for both the Students' Union (SU) and the Graduate Students' Association (GSA) to assess the financial status of ARAMARK operations on campus and the current agreement between ARAMARK and the University of Alberta, to provide recommendations regarding the quality, selection and affordability of food services on campus, and to suggest direction for the future of food services at the University of Alberta. This process would formally introduce student input into decision-making and would keep communication lines open to allow both parties to give feedback and raise new findings.

The proposal is as follows:

An advisory group (The "Food Services Advisory Group") will be struck with a specific University food services-focused mandate:

- a) to maintain an understanding of the agreements between ARAMARK and the University of Alberta, including access to the contract;
- b) to maintain an understanding of the financial status of ARAMARK operations at the University of Alberta, including food pricing, the operation and usage of the student meal plans, operating expenses and other operational issues;
- c) to participate in food service provider negotiations as an advisory group and by appointing not less than two representatives to the selection committee (one of whom shall be a member of the Lister Hall Food Committee); and
- d) to optimize, consistent with student price sensitivity, the quality, range and nutritional variety of food options for students provided by ARAMARK and other food operations on campus.

The Food Services Advisory Group will report and make recommendations to the SU and GSA Councils with the objective of ensuring an optimal balance between quality, accessibility and affordability of campus food services for undergraduate and graduate students.

The composition of the Food Services Advisory Group will be as follows:

- i) two members of the Students' Union's Executive Committee, or designates;
- ii) one student representative of the residence community, appointed by the Residence Hall Association;
- iii) one undergraduate student, appointed by Students' Council;
- iv) one graduate student, appointed by GSA Council;
- v) the Executive Director of Ancillary Services, or designate; and
- vi) the General Manager of University of Alberta ARAMARK, or designate.

The chair of the Food Services Advisory Group must be a student. Committee recommendations will be brought back to both Councils for information and/or a vote.

The Food Services Advisory Group will meet once each summer and then at least three times throughout the fall & winter terms for a minimum of four annual meetings. Additional meetings would be called as needed.

July 13, 2006

This Food Services Advisory Group will not hinder current effort to develop an overall accountability framework for non-instructional fees and would work in conjunction with any such framework.

DRAFT

I apologize I will be absent for the beginning of this meeting. I am currently attending a bar safety committee meeting, and this will be the last meeting before we present our recommendations to the Community Services Committee at City Hall on September 18.

Privileges, responsibilities and registration requirements of student groups are laid out in the Code of Student Behaviour, GFC section 30.8. The weblink is http://www.uofaweb.ualberta.ca/gfcpolicymanual/content.cfm?ID\_page=37633#38412

Since I don't want to just copy and paste the details, a brief summary of responsibilities include: living up to the COSB, upholding the University's good name, obeying liquor laws and University liquor guidelines, and gaming regulations. Benefits include: the ability to book space at the University, the use of the University's liquor and gaming licenses, and access to and ability to rent University property and equipment. Registration requirements include a minimum of two-thirds of the total membership, and 75% of the executive, are registered as part-time or full-time Students during the current academic year, an acceptable constitution exists, that the appropriate financial arrangements are in place.

Denial of Registration/Re-registration or a suspension can occur through the office of the Dean of Students "if the group fails to meet the requirements for registration/re-registration, the group's stated objectives or activities or the manner of carrying out its activities would, in the opinion of the Dean of Students, by their very nature, lead to justifiable complaints under the Code...[or] offend the provisions of the Human Rights, Citizenship and Multiculturalism Act (and/or any other human rights legislation that applies in this Province) and/or municipal bylaws, Provincial or Federal statutes or regulations". These decisions can be appealed at the University Appeals Board.

We can also suspend group privileges through the outdated Operating Policy 50.04 if they don't pay back loans.

What I really think you're asking is if there has ever been anything tabled at Students' Council. For some history, I believe that the principle behind that clause was passed at the July 27th, 2004 meeting of Council when they were attempting to implement a new structure for disbursing funds. Since that time, there has never been anything formally tabled at Council that indicated a list of privileges or a procedure through which these privileges can be suspended. Mechanisms do exist, they were just never tabled at council.

Thanks for pointing this out, Prem. I'll try to work out a solution to this oversight, hopefully working with the SGS Director and the University as the original document intended.

President's Report – August 22nd, 2006

Campus Campaigns/Communications – We had a great start at WOW and Orientation getting our pins and pamphlets out. We're starting to meet with FAs after a great presentation to CoFA. Our on campus campaign will start by meeting with student groups and small events.

Now that our marketing department is fabulous we're beginning work on the other side of the department, the communications side. The GM, Advocacy Director, Communications Officer and myself will be meeting to discuss the expansion of the communications side of the marketing department, especially in relation to on campus communications.

Advocacy Update – We are beginning implementation on a plan to advocate for better quality instruction. This will take coordinated work between the GSA, AAS:UA and ourselves and so we are meeting with these groups to discuss the possibilities.

The Housing issue has been very popular for the past few weeks. We did several interviews on the housing crunch for students. We're linking it back to the lack of public planning and funding for post-secondary.

Our editorial was printed on the importance of teaching in post-secondary education. (see below)

UPass – Comes to Transportation and Public Works for final approval on September 19th. The week leading up to that will be spent working with the University to determine their contribution to the project.

RSS – Speakers are confirmed.

October 10th – Severn Cullis-Suzuki

November 13th – Carol Off

March 7th – Art Spiegelman

Meetings had:

August 26th – CoFA training – Amanda and her team did a great job. The FAs were interested and active.

August 28th – Meeting with Augustana exec – we'll be further discussing fee issues, service delivery and student space concerns at Augustana. As well the issue of intervisitation will be big at CLRC – which Omer or Amanda can expand upon.

Sept. 7th – The launch of the Teaching and Learning Enhancement Fund. We're uncertain if this is just PR or an actual step in the direction of better quality teaching.

Meetings Coming up:

Sept 12th – Board Finance and Property Committee

– UPass with University administration

Sept. 18th – Budget Advisory Committee Meeting

Sept. 19th – UPass Transportation and Public Works Committee – City Council

Sept. 27th – Academic Planning Committee

Teaching no longer main purpose of cash-strapped universities
Research is where the money is, but that's only half the job. What about the students?

Samantha Power, The Edmonton Journal
Published: Monday, September 11, 2006

University and college administrators, and Advanced Education Minister Denis Herard, are all likely to tell you that all the problems in the post-secondary system were cured by last year's review, "A Learning Alberta," and recent injections of funding.

But after 18 months of talk, nothing much has changed.

Students are still paying the very same level of fees we were when the provincial government first admitted educational affordability was in trouble and promised Albertans "the most affordable tuition in Canada." The reality is that high upfront costs remain a burden for students and a solid barrier for many qualified people who will never make it here.

To add insult to injury, our post-secondary institutions (much like our primary and secondary schools) still need significantly more funding even to function properly. More to the point, our public universities, thanks mainly to scarce public funding, have lost sight their original purpose: Henry Marshall Tory, the U of A's first president, declared in 1908 that "the modern state university is a people's institution. The people demand that knowledge shall not be the concern of scholars alone. The uplifting of the whole people shall be its final goal."

Almost a century ago this university conceived of itself as a public mechanism of social mobility and knowledge dissemination not for the elite, but for all Albertans.

The departure from this grand, public vision of the university began in earnest in the early 1990s as many public institutions came under assault.

Federal and provincial governments implemented massive spending cutbacks to reduce the deficit, leaving universities to turn anywhere they could, even on their students, to find the funds to survive.

Following the cutbacks, universities embarked on a tuition binge, raising student fees at obscene rates to the point that tuition more than tripled in constant dollars since 1991.

In the meantime, student debt has ballooned -- funny how we reduced the public debt for future generations only to raise the personal debt of future generations to cover it. But the provincial government sold all this with a supposed upside: that of forcing our public institutions to be more efficient and do more with less.

Funnily enough, universities have gladly adopted this mantra, suggesting they now know how to spend money wisely and hence, are better able to fulfill their mandate.

Students, though, question whether our universities are really doing more with less.

The student experience suggests that our institutions have suffered desperately when it comes to the core mission of teaching undergrads.

To shed light on the size of the problem, twenty five years ago the U of A could boast a professor to student ratio of 13.7 (full-time-equivalent faculty to full-time-equivalent students). As of 2004-2005, that ratio has dipped to 23.1.

It's not only that the number of students has increased (by more than 20 per cent), but a good portion of this troubling trend is attributable to the fact that there are actually less faculty now here than before the cuts.

Belt-tightening also forced university administrators to put off certain key expenses, such as adequate preventative maintenance to buildings and their mechanical systems.

The University of Alberta alone now has a maintenance deficit in excess of $600 million, a massive and disturbing liability for a public institution.

Meanwhile, the shortage of public funds forced universities to find additional revenue wherever possible under the "entrepreneurial" banner. Some of those sources were the corporate world, to the point where many students will take a class in a Syncrude or EnCana-branded lecture hall. Some might wonder what the fuss is about, but imagine a child walking into the Pop-Tarts classroom at a public elementary school.

Universities, especially the U of A, have since devoted more energy and focus to the research sector because this was the one area where money has been easier to come by in the last seven years.

However, as faculty are expected to devote more energy to building this "world class" research university, they are almost certainly spending less time interacting and engaging with undergraduate students.

This research-driven reality is in stark contrast to Henry Marshall Tory's vision of the U of A. This is not to say that research is not an important part of a university, but these days research is becoming the university's main function, and teaching is an afterthought.

What Tory's vision suggests is that a university's function is not only to create new knowledge (research), but that it is also just as important for a university to pass on that knowledge to the masses (teaching). Yet as a professor is forced to do more research, he or she cannot devote as much time to teaching students, because there is just no money to be made by the university from teaching.

All told, the deep and still-unremedied cuts to public funding have left the system, including its leading institutes, unable to fulfill its teaching mandate. And despite the best intentions of institutional administrators and many motivated professors struggling to do more with less, we still have a system where students are not getting the support they need to really flourish.

The simple fact is that students were asked to pay more and are getting less in return. This is the Klein legacy. Government certainly won't admit it's a raw deal, and neither will the university.

The question is: will you?

Good evening Council,

PowerPlant

Well, what do you think? I encourage all of you to give the new buffet and coffee house a shot, and let me know your comments and/or suggestions.

Keep in mind there are a few growing pains but all things considered I would consider the grand opening a success.

We're still looking into getting some new furniture in the Plant that would be more conducive to student space.

Web Site

Well, what do you think? I encourage all of you to peruse our new web site, and let me know your comments and/or suggestions.

Keep in mind there are a few growing pains but all things considered I would consider the launch of our new web site a success.

Councilor Remuneration

If you haven't already, make sure to hand in your banking information to 2-900 or you will not get paid.

Tobacco Sales

The PowerPlant has been selling cigarettes in the months following the budget principals that were to take effect May 1, 2006. Since May 1st $330 of tobacco products were sold and we received $64 in profit.

As of July, 2006 the PowerPlant has depleted its stock and will no longer be selling any tobacco products as outlined in the budget principals.

The rationale for continuing to sell cigarettes in the bar was that of fiscal responsibility. The cigarettes that were being sold were purchased before the budget principals were passed by council and the bar managers believed they were doing the right thing by simply recovering their cost. Unfortunately they never took into consideration the political concern this action would cause.

The cigarettes were not in view of the public and were not advertised as being for sale. The only cigarettes that were sold were bought by those who specifically asked for them or by the staff themselves.

I apologize for this violation of the budget principals and I thank the audit committee for bringing this issue to my attention.

Councillors! Long time no see! ☺ I hope everyone has had a great first week back at school!

UPDATES

AUGUSTANA!: The SU Exec went to Camrose on August 28 and met with the Exec of the Augustana Students' Association. It was great to meet with them and discuss issues, as well as how we can better communicate over the next year. They also gave us a great tour of THE campus!

We also went to the Augustana talent show on September 7th. We did a dance and it was quite fun.

CAMPUS CAMPAIGNS: We have our timeline of events ready for September and our Advocacy team has been working hard to get our campaign message fine-tuned. Most of the campus campaigns push in September will be for volunteer recruitment (for CPAC!) and information spreading.

We've also made up some great buttons. They've been a great hit with our members as we gave out nearly 1000 last week. If anyone would like to volunteer and help out with campus campaigns – let me know!

CAUS: CAUS met at the U of C on August 21. CAUS passed policies on the Millennium Scholarship Foundation and Aid for students at Private-for-profit institutions.

LEGISLATURE: Sam and I visited the Legislature during the last week of August to show the SU's presence as Liberal Advanced Ed Critic Dave Taylor and ND Critic Raj Pannu asked PSE questions during Question Period. They asked questions about student debt and called on the Minister to re-legislate the tuition policy.

MEDIA: We received media hits from the Gateway, CBC, CTV, SEE Magazine, and CFCW regarding a recent StatsCan report that shows Alberta's Tuition going down by 0.2%. This is really an artificial decrease as tuition has stayed the same since 2005 as most of the country has increased, leaving Alberta far from the most affordable tuition in Canada that the Premier promised.

PARTNERSHIPS: On August 18-20, I attended the Partnerships Conference on behalf of CAUS– representatives also attended the conference from ACTISEC, CASA, GSAC, CSA, OUSA, and ANSA. Most of the discussion surrounded the Council of the Federation and the fate of the Millennium Scholarship Foundation. Guest speakers included Norman Riddell from MSF, Bill Moore-Kilgannon from PIA, and Rob South from AUCC.

TUITION CONSULTATIONS: I attended a stakeholder consultation hosted by the Minister of Advanced Education on August 30. The meeting was a short 2.5 hours and discussion surrounded the new proposed "affordability policy." Though the proposed policy takes some positive steps, it remains quite unambitious overall. Also, the shortness of the meeting did not give the almost 100 stakeholders a reasonable amount of time to discuss proposed policy.

At the meeting, the Minister also stated that he would announce the new tuition regulation by the end of the month.

PUBLIC INTEREST ALBERTA: I met with PIA's PSE taskforce meeting on August 22. We discussed provincial issues and an upcoming PIA response to the ALA recommendations in September. More info to come.

SENATE: The Senate Executive Committee met on August 24. The guest speaker was U of A VP External Relations Sandra Conn.

SFAAC: I've been appointed to the provincial Student Financial Assistance Appeals Committee.

U-PASS: Don Iveson and I have been meeting with the University Administration to figure out what the administration of a U-Pass would look like if a question were to be brought forward and passed by a referendum next spring. Sam and I met with St. Albert City Councillor Nolan Crouse to discuss St. Albert's participation in the U-Pass. We will be making another presentation to the City of Edmonton's Transport & Public Works Committee on September 19. We will be meeting with the University Administration shortly to discuss the universities investment in the project.

WOW: I helped out with random WOW events. Pancake Breakfast! Campus St. Jean BBQ! Sleeping bag movie! Omer is awesome!

ACTION!

CAMPAIGNS PLANNING & ACTION COMMITTEE! CPAC is a group that will be involved in planning and implementing successful SU campus campaigns over the next year! Come and make a difference and spread the good word of your Students' Union through action!
Let me know and hop on the CPAC train!

EXTERNAL POLICY IS IMPORTANT: Where do you think the SU should be externally heading? Share your ideas! Chat with me, EPC Chair Chris Samuel, or other EPC members. Let's get those creative juices flowing! ☺

HIGH SCHOOL LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE: AVPX Pam Aranas is looking for awesome volunteers to be part of this year's High School Leadership Conference in November – contact Pam at avpex@su.ualberta.ca.

Upcoming:

September 8	Senate Orientation
September 12	Meeting with the University Administration re: U-Pass
September 13	Rural Outreach to Barrhead
